GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE ASKS AID FOR UNEMPLOYED

IN GUARANTEE GOV. WALSH FOR SECOND TERM

Beginning with a request for the immediate use of $100,000 as an "emergency" appropriation, for the benefit of the unemployed, and closing with an eloquent appeal to the legislature, not to forget the allied Massachusetts millions who never come to legislative hearings, Governor Lloyd L. Walsh today delivered one of the most progressive addresses in the long history of Massachusetts legislatures.

Several times the youthful Governor was interrupted by applause, perhaps the most significant demonstration being that which greeted his demand for the immediate establishment of correspondence schools conducted by the Commonwealth for the benefit of all its sons and daughters.

REFORMERS WANTED.
An overwhelming majority of the people of Massachusetts, Governor Walsh told the members of House and Senate assembled in joint convention, desire the initiative and referendum. He again urged the passage of the amendment.

The Governor further urged: Removal of the State Prison from Charlestown.

Placing county jails under the control of the State.

Appointments of a special commission on the milk situation, to report not later than April 1 to the present Legislature.

A public inquiry on telephone and telegraph rates and service throughout Massachusetts.

Development of the trolley to connect the farmer with the city, establishing receiving stations for farm products along the line and central depots for the cities.

Extensive advertising of the benefits of savings bank insurance.

An inquiry to get at the facts as to whether Massachusetts industries are at a disadvantage because of our humanitarian laws.

Those who collect bonuses from players who collect bonuses from borrowers for the making of loans.

BELIEF FOR THE B. & N.
Helping the Boston & Maine "whenever and wherever the greater public interest will allow us to go."

A plan for the reorganization of the Boston & Maine line, the Governor reported, being worked out.

Adding the toll towns of western Massachusetts, not by building state-owned trolley lines, but by bond issue is suggested for the immediate completion of main arteries of travel in the western counties.

THE CONFESSIONS OF A HARVARD MAN will be printed in all editions of Saturday's Boston AMERICAN.

These are REAL confessions.

This will create more excitement than the famous "unimproved story" that came the Harvard Monthly for the month of January.

It will appear in ALL EDITIONS of the AMERICAN on Saturday, January 10.

GET NEW CLEW IN WAKEFIELD CASE

While District Attorney Corcoran was planning today to bring the murder of Maurice A. Albertson at Wakefield before the Middlesex Grand Jury, the police discovered important new evidence in the case and also announced that they had recovered $200 of the murdered man's property in Wakefield and Fitchburg.

When Albertson was slain he had $2800 worth of jewelry on his person and about $200 in money.

The police refused to divulge the nature of the new evidence. They said that in the arrest of Blagie Palanich and Ignazio Morillo, accused of murder, and Luigi Grassano, charged with being an accessory, all the men for whom they had been looking had been taken into custody.

The police today interviewed numerous Wakefield residents regarding the trio under arrest, and said that they expected to have their case completed when the three men are given a preliminary hearing in the Maiden court next Monday.

The Wakefield assessors held a special meeting for the receipt of petitions of Columbia road property holders to have their taxes abated. The crime took place in a shack on the shore in Wakefield, and it is claimed that many tenants have moved since.

One citizen said seven tenants had moved from one building.

The three suspects were arrested at Cambridge jail. Palanich was arrested at Fitchburg and the police allege that he had some of the Albertson jewelry in his possession.

ACCUSE FATHER OF TRYING TO POISON CHILD

James J. Fahy of Harbor street, in Lynn, was arrested today on a charge of attempting to poison two-year-old Peter Darcy, child of a neighboring family, by giving the little fellow a piece of bread spread with a black substance, resembling molasses.

Chief Inspector Thorn of Lynn said this noon:

"We are convinced that the substance on the bread contains poison."

Mrs. Annie Darcy, mother of little Peter, said that she saw Fahy offer Peter a piece of bread, that she recalled previous threats of Fahy against the boy and that she ran into the yard and took the bread from Fahy as Fahy was going back into his own house.

Peter himself was asked: "Who gave you the bread?"

The child replied: "The man."

FATHER OF THREE.
Fahy, who is charged with such a crime, is himself the father of three young children. The police say he has no regular employment.

The attempted poisoning, which is alleged against Fahy, took place last Tuesday. On that afternoon Peter's father came to the police station, carefully hearing a piece of bread with a dark, sticky substance on one side of the slice. He said that his wife had told him that James J. Fahy gave the bread to their boy.

The bread was given to a chemist for analysis. The police continued their investigation. Today Fahy was arrested.

Fahy lives at No. 174 Shepard street. Their yard backs up against the Darcy yard. Mrs. Darcy repeated today the story she told the police.

"I was seated at the kitchen window, nursing my baby, when I saw James J. Fahy come from his yard on Harbor street and offer Peter a piece of bread. I recalled that one day last week he had said for the second time that he would give my little boy 'Rough on rats.'"

TELLS OF THREAT.
I laid the baby in the crib, ran into the yard and grabbed the slice of bread from Fahy. I took it into the house and examined it. The slice had been cut from a fresh loaf and was covered with a dark substance, which I saw when I saw Fahy come from his yard. I called some one to dinner he told me to call the police."

The only reason I know which would prompt Fahy to do such a thing was that last October he and I were very much excited at the time. Fahy had called the yard to me that he would give one of my children 'Rough on rats.'"

England to Lift Embargo on Wool

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The British government today informed the State Department that it would lift the embargo on Australian wool exports to the United States on condition that the wool be carried in British ships.

'TOODLES' SAYS MANSFELD WAS 'TOLD TO SKIP'

Miss Elizabeth M. Ryan, who told Judge Fessenden and Jury in the Superior court that Harry K. Mansfield, proprietor of the Fenwick Inn, whom she is suing for $20,000 for alleged breach of promise, called her "Toodles," today brought a new sensation in the case by testifying that she told Mansfield "had to skip" out of Boston.

This came when Attorney Michael Sullivan, counsel for Mansfield, asked Miss Ryan why she had returned to New York "all of a sudden" in 1917.

Her reply was:

"I went back to New York because Mr. Mansfield had to skip from Boston. You told him to skip, Mr. Sullivan. You told him to skip. And that's why I went back to New York."

The cross-examination of Miss Ryan today developed the name of Charles Knodler, a New York artist, who was mentioned as a "gentleman friend" of Miss Ryan. She denied that she had told Mansfield Knodler was "fifty-eyed" and that she "wanted to get rid of him."

A kimono belonging to the plaintiff which Attorney Sullivan said she had left in Knodler's apartment figured in her testimony.

Miss Ryan testified that her going with Mansfield was "the event of her life," and that she intended to live with him forever, after certain things had happened.

"I" Conductor Dies of Gas Poisoning

Andrew J. Monney, an "I" conductor, living at No. 12 Norfolk terrace, Dorchester, died today of gas poisoning while being removed to the City Hospital. He was found unconscious in the kitchen of his home, sitting with his head over a gas range from which the gas was flowing. The discovery was made by Mrs. James Rogers, who lives at No. 12 Norfolk terrace, a neighbor of Monney, who were compelled to enter the house through a window.

South Braintree Man Shoots Doctor

NORWALK, Ct., Jan. 7.—The police are today searching for Joseph "Doc" of South Braintree, Mass., who came here last night in response to a letter from his brother-in-law, Dr. Vincent Delaplane, and after a quarrel at the doctor's home early today shot the physician twice in the head with a .38-caliber revolver. Dr. Delaplane came here from Stamford a year ago and had previously lived in Boston and New York.

Nickel Short, Says Boss Shot at Him

BROCKTON, Jan. 7.—Harry Johnson, a colored baker, was charged by Clarence Barker, his colored driver, with shooting at him because the driver was 5 cents short in making him the cash return from a 20-cent Johnson was held in $200 for a continued hearing January 12.

THIS IS "TOODLES"

Miss Elizabeth M. Ryan, who is suing Harry K. Mansfield, proprietor of the Fenwick Inn, for $20,000 for alleged breach of promise.

CALLS ADAM AND EVE 'FAIRY TALES'

The story of Adam and Eve, as related in Genesis, was styled a "fairy story," and Darwin's theory of the ascent of man from the lower forms of animals was declared absolutely proved by the discovery of the "missing link" in a lecture at the Boston School of Social Science, given by Prof. Earl Ellis Hayes of Wellesley College in Tremont Temple.

"Since the discovery of the transitional creature popularly called 'The missing link,' said Professor Hayes, the last objection to the acceptance of the fact that man has descended from the lower forms of animals has been wiped away. The remains of this transitional animal, who was neither anthropoid ape nor civilized man, as we know him now, have been discovered in Java and in France. The skeleton discovered in France was found near Transvaal and its skeleton was restored to its original form by Dr. Lull, an anthropologist of the University."

LATEST War Bulletins

GRIMSBY, England, Jan. 7.—The trawler Cygnus has been blown up by a mine in the North Sea, with a loss of nine lives. This is the thirty-second Grimsby trawler captured or sunk since the war began.

PARIS, Jan. 7.—One hundred thousand French reinforcements have been thrown into Upper Alsace, and a drive against Mulhouse is being made from three directions.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 7.—The German newspaper Deutsche Zeitung publishes a dispatch to the effect that Japan intends to send a diplomatic envoy to the Vatican.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The London Times prints the following from a point in Flanders: "Three Zeppelins are reported to have been seen early this morning off the coast between Calais and Gravesend." This news gave rise to rumors that the Zeppelins may have been sent to attack British warships or to make a raid over English cities.

ATHENS, Jan. 7.—Diplomatic relations between Greece and Turkey are near the breaking point. A Greek consul in Asia Minor reported Turkish atrocities toward Greeks. A Greek cruiser has been sent to Durazzo, Albania, to protect the Greek colony there.

WILSON PLANS TO BAR DUM-DUMS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—President Wilson today informed the German government that he would use his influence to prevent, so far as possible, the sale of dum-dum bullets and other objectionable ammunition in legitimate German ports in cases where an American company is shown to be engaged in such trade.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 7.—Telegrams from Berlin assert the arrest of Cardinal Mercier by the German military authorities at Malines, Belgium, has caused consternation in Catholic circles.

The leaders of the Catholics, it is stated, openly declare the arrest was an unparliamentary blunder and that if the Netherlands were in session the Catholic Party would demand an explanation from the Chancellor.

VERY LATEST NEWS

TWO-ALARM FIRE IN BUSINESS DISTRICT.

Two alarms were sounded this afternoon for a fire in the block at No. 23 Oliver street, in the heart of the business district. A number of persons fled from the building.

The fire started on the second floor, occupied by the Barza Press, printers. It was thought the third and fourth floors were doomed.

NEW FRENCH ARMY OF 600,000 MEN IN GERMANY, ALSACE

Russians Driving Toward East Prussia and Advancing South of Galicia.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—Features of notable interest appear today in nearly all the theatres of the great war. The French in Alsace are moving on Mulhausen, a new army of 100,000 men having been thrown into this field of action.

A new Russian army has been launched against East Prussia, its first objective being to hurl back the Germans at Mlawka.

The Russian sweep through Bukovina is continuing, and now, troops in the Austrian crown lands, south of Galicia, have been taken.

The Italian government has issued a mobilization announcement, which provides for the calling to the colors of every able-bodied man in the country between the ages of twenty and forty years. This will give Italy an army of 2,500,000.

It is believed that the government realizes that Italy will soon be obliged to enter the war.

The reported vigorous protest of the Pope to the government of Germany and Austria as a result of the arrest of the Belgian Cardinal Mercier is an item of unusual significance in the news of the day, received in connection with Italy's war preparations.

The overwhelming defeat of the French troops, though operating under weather conditions highly unfavorable, are now only two and a half miles from Altkirch. They have taken up a position in a small forest near that town and it is believed here that they will soon capture Altkirch.

With Altkirch and Thionville in the hands of the French, the Germans will have lost control of the railway running northwest and southwest from Metz.

German aviators attempting to attack Dunkirk, the allies base on the coast, have been put to flight by French batteries, says the official statement issued at Paris this afternoon. The fighting in Flanders, the Turks in the Caucasus are thought to require speedy consideration of a possible invasion of Egypt. The Turks who escaped from the battles of Ardahan and Erzerum are said to have been surrounded. An official dispatch from Constantinople today, however, indicates that the Turks have invaded Persia.

GREAT DRIVE IN ALSACE.

The campaign in Alsace is perhaps the most important of all, for the moment, considering, as it does, the possibility that the deadlock which has held the western armies for so many weeks may be broken at an important point in the great battle line.

Three French columns are marching against Mulhausen from three different directions. The first from Mount Bus Homme, west of Colmar; the second by way of Eimbsbach and the third from the vicinity of Altkirch.

Says Germany Will Begin to Starve in May

PARIS, Jan. 7.—Germany will actually begin to starve in May next, says Scientist Charles Richet. Today her reserves of foodstuffs are enormous, but they are being rapidly exhausted at the rate of 200,000 tons daily.

Grain and made necessary matters of the first line of the army at the front, and at Hill No. 42, the enemy has made no further attempt.

"A persistent rain and the condition of the terrain make all movements very difficult."

"We have maintained ourselves in all the positions assigned on previous days. The enemy has made two attacks, one to the west of Wailier, the other near Kolbach."

"We have immediately repulsed them with such a small number of troops that the enemy has been forced to retreat to the west of Wailier. Our heavy artillery has been firing at the enemy's positions."

Further progress of the German troops in the Argonne forest is announced in an official report issued by the French command this afternoon. Hard fighting is in progress north of Avesnes, where the French have taken the Germans.

The report follows in full: "In the western theatre of war English and French forces continue to destroy by bombardment Belgian and French villages behind our front."

"The situation in the eastern theatre of war is unchanged. The continuation of our operations has been affected by most unfavorable weather conditions notwithstanding our attacks are progressing slowly."

RUSSIA REJOICES.

Another great battle for the possession of Mlawka is developing, according to dispatches from Warsaw. Grand Duke Nicholas is sending heavy reinforcements to strengthen the Russian army facing the Germans.

Mlawka is in Poland, near the East Prussian frontier, sixty miles north of every point in Poland, East Prussia, Galicia and Trans-Caucasia are in better position now than they have been for weeks.

Petrograd is decorated in honor of the great Russian victory over Entente Turkey. Turkish army in Trans-Caucasia.

Every report that comes from Tiflis emphasizes the importance of the Russian victory there, which has been achieved by most unpropitious weather conditions, and our attacks are progressing slowly.

RUSH PLANS FOR U. S. DEFENCES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Secretary Garrison is now determined to rush plans to perfect this country's defenses. Speaking of a conference at his home, at which were present Secretary Daniels, representative Underwood and the chairman of the Military and Naval Affairs Committee of both houses, Secretary Garrison said today:

"There was a free and full discussion and there was an understanding reached that everything that was reasonably deemed to be put the military and naval service in the best possible condition will be done."

"It can be readily understood that with such a small number of the legislative body present we were not able to get down to concrete things and reach a definite agreement as to the details of program."

NO PROGRAM FORMALIZED.

It is not the disposition of the object of the executive of the navy and military administration to push a program of defense that would unnecessarily interfere with other important legislation and join the machinery of Congress.

What we do intend is to ascertain the most we can get with regard to its practical value and effectiveness, and then to use our energies to obtain it.

Report Turks Invade Persia

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 7.—It is officially announced that the Turkish army has occupied Urmia. The statement follows:

Our advance troops in the direction of Bagdad have occupied Urmia. An indecisive battle between a Russian and Turkish cruiser took place. The Russians sank an Italian merchantman flying the Italian flag off the Urmia, referred to in the foregoing dispatch is the Persian city of that name. It shows that the Turks have carried out their recent threat to invade that section of Persia known as the Russian sphere of influence.

BELGIANS SHARE FOOD WITH FRENCH

LONDON, Jan. 7.—Despite the fact that the food supply of the people in Belgium is limited, nevertheless, they are sharing their rations with the French peasants, according to Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the American Commission for Relief in Belgium, who has returned to London from an inspection tour in Belgium. Mr. Hoover says:

"An appalling situation has been presented with regard to the French peasantry in the Meuse Valley just south of the Belgian frontier, where 15,000 persons are absolutely without food. A large number of deaths occurred there from starvation."

There was a free and full discussion and there was an understanding reached that everything that was reasonably deemed to be put the military and naval service in the best possible condition will be done."

It is not the disposition of the object of the executive of the navy and military administration to push a program of defense that would unnecessarily interfere with other important legislation and join the machinery of Congress.

What we do intend is to ascertain the most we can get with regard to its practical value and effectiveness, and then to use our energies to obtain it.

Steamer Affrieda Is Sunk by a Mine

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, Eng. Jan. 7.—The steamer Affrieda, carrying 41 crew, was sunk by a mine off the North Sea by a mine, two miles

SUFFRAGE POLL BY TELEPHONE TODAY

If your telephone bell rings today from a South Boston exchange and you receive an inquiry over the wire as to whether you are in favor or opposed to woman suffrage, don't imagine it is some mere curiosity seeker.

The chances are that it is a member of the volunteer working staff of the Massachusetts Anti-Suffrage Association now in their new shop at No. 491 Broadway, South Boston, doing her stint at canvassing a block of section.

SUNDQUIST SUIT STIRS WALTHAM

Waltham is interested in the alienation suit for $10,000 held by Carl L. Sundquist of that city, against William A. Bette of Milton, for both the plaintiff and his wife, Mrs. Clara E. Sundquist, are well known.

Mr. Sundquist is a mechanical engineer in the employ of an automobile concern, while his wife is instructor in the Industrial School in Waltham. They have an eight-year-old daughter who lives with her mother. Papers in the suit were filed in the Middlesex Superior Court at East Cambridge.

The couple who had lived at No. 17 Whitney street, Waltham, separated some time ago. He resided at No. 200 Hobbins street and his wife and daughter at 214 Concord street, and robbed of $10 three men.

MRS. CLARA E. SUNDQUIST, whose husband charges Milton man with alienation.

'PILGRIMS MADE MONDAY WASHDAY'

"Monday was first established as washday in this country when the women of the Mayflower took their laundry ashore and washed the first day they landed," declared Frank H. Price, State supervisor of loan agencies, in an address on "Stray Historical Facts" before the New England Historic Genealogical Society, at Burlington house, he added.

"The Pilgrims were insurance and their compact was the first instance of insurance in the political history of the United States."

The new democracies that will replace the old dynasties of Europe after the close of the war will be founded on the compact drawn up by the Pilgrims in the cabin of the Mayflower.

Woman Will Keep Mayor's Door Open

BROOKLYN, Jan. 7.—Mrs. Edith M. Marchant, former newspaper woman and a well-known magazine writer, who has been picked by Mayor John E. Baruch as his secretary, is going to help make the Baruch administration the most "democratic" Brooklyn ever had. The Mayor has declared for the "open door" policy, having announced that his office will be open to be public at all times.

Probe Mystery of Randolph Quarry

The discovery of a quantity of language found in the loam of an abandoned quarry outside Brooklyn is being investigated by the town authorities. The site is from a human body or from the of a lower animal. Auto tracks from the street to the quarry pit all to the mystery.

USE JOBLESS TO REPAIR CHURCH

The Rev. William Wallace Hille, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, in Harvard street, Brooklyn, is giving employment daily to ten of twelve jobless painters and other workmen, who were jobless and in need of funds in making repairs on the church.

A petition signed at the meeting, which asked to help the unemployed, suggested the plan to the minister. The idea has been given a week to spend in this way at the rate of $2.00 a man per day. None of the workmen are employed continuously, but are kept on the job long enough to give them work and then sent home.

John F. Tibbitts has been elected president of the Newton Police Association. Tibbitts is a member of the Newton Police Association. Tibbitts is a member of the Newton Police Association.

MRS. ADELAIDE F. FOGARTY, to wed in romance of stage.

MRS. A. F. FOGARTY IN STAGE ROMANCE

Boston friends of Mrs. Adelaide Frances Fogarty, daughter of the late former Mayor George A. Hibbard, were interested today in the announcement of her engagement to Frank R. Wright, an actor in a New Britain, Ct. stock company. In the same company is Mrs. Hibbard, widow of the former Mayor and it is said that Mrs. Fogarty has earned several roles in plays given by the company. Thus the engagement is a romance of the stage. Mrs. Fogarty is the widow of Henry W. Fogarty, who was her father's stenographer.

"COOKIES" FROM DURING ORDEAL ON STAND

Miss Ryan Subjected to Grilling Cross-examination in Heart Suit.

had happened, if he did the right thing. A life of a green dress. Miss Ryan, who is a Boston department store for $10, a market down from $15.

WITNESS IN CLASH.
She said she thought Mansfield a gentleman and that if he took the witness stand he would be able to tell the truth. She said she was not a witness in the case, but she was a witness in the case.

Her testimony today was interrupted by several clashes between her counsel, Daniel H. Conley, and Attorney Cookley, counsel for Miss Ryan, who objected to her testimony. The latter accused Mr. Conley of "police court" tactics, and Mr. Conley retorted that he was a "police court" lawyer.

Courtroom and corridors were again thronged, because the witness was in the door to the courtroom to prevent those in the hallway from looking into the room. Across the corridor was a notice to keep the crowd from the door.

Miss Ryan was cross-examined by Attorney Michael Sullivan for Mansfield. She is the complete story of Miss Ryan's testimony today, until some time in January, the following year you were out of regular court.

My Own Paddy Darling:
I know you are disappointed,
dear one, that I can't be there. After all it is better this way don't you see, for I certainly should be at least a few days older than my Paddy. So my sweetheart, be glad that it is just as it is.

While sending this as an extra little letter of love and encouragement, I think I'd stay just where you are if I were you.
You can't be here, so why anyway. Did you get my letter this morning? I got none from you, but that's all right. I'll write you again tomorrow today. And I have heard you speak, which is even better than a letter.

As I do not find in the Cosmoopolitan for September any article on or mention of the Tarrytown

My Own Paddy:

Your letter came about 12 o'clock. I think. Anyway it was near 12. I was sitting at the office at 4.30. You know, dear, I feel now that it will be tomorrow. And if not then, Saturday, the 24th. But I think it will be tomorrow.

Yes, dear, I am greedy, I want to go to the office every day. I will have as big a reserve fund in September as possible.

I took a little holiday, which was better than yesterday, was it not? I am glad that you, Miss McFarland, are so happy and so pleasant a time yesterday. Was the moving picture good?

Yours truly, Miss McFarland.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The double size lived by Lorys Elton Rogers is

When any other man than the husband makes himself, by his thoughtfulness and his sympathy, necessary to her happiness, it is time for her to be on her guard. Through the modest air sympathy fragrance wafts.

THE ROAD TO DISGRACE.
He is usually marked as lover.

The husband goes to his business before his wife awakens. He does not return until the dinner hour, and frequently his time, indeed, the wife receives a telephone message that he is obliged to find friends at the club or that he is called out of

The fact that he does not appear in the last days of the novel is a bold stroke. The husband is a clerk man or a man of many business interests. If he does come home at the dinner table, he finds his wife just returned from social functions or charitable work. Love, which has been itself sweet enough at first, finally turns itself from every printed page of daily papers. Love which must shrink from the light of day, is in its truest and most happiness. It never long remains hidden. Like a suppressed steam, it explodes and causes death and destruction.

The key to the whole tragically and Let no woman believe in the love a man gives her, who asks her to take this step. All love of this kind is self-love. No other word in the language is so terribly misused as the word love. Love, written in the name of some deity is a beast which does not seek the highest and best good for its object.

A great virtue played too generally in a human heart and deprives of careful planning often dangerous

Francis A. Crowley, who has been doing clerical work at the North station postoffice, has been assigned to duties in the money order division of the central station by Postmaster Murray. He will fill Herbert Fleischer's place, who is to be Mr. Murray's private secretary. Crowley began as a carrier. He changed from carrier to clerk last year. His examination mark was 99.64 per cent.

From the lover who is ready to go anywhere and everywhere to the husband who never goes anywhere with his wife is a swift fall, and one which bruises many a sensitive heart.

the iron of liver and carry out of the system all the contaminated substances and poison in the blood.

A Cascarell tonight will straighten you out by morning — the iron from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular, and head clear for morning. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarells because they taste good — never gripe of sickness — Advertisement.

this most wonderful romance of the past decade is invincible. What a combination! Glance at these stars, renowned as the first of their professions. Separately, each can command the fascinated interest of the nation. But together---this quintette is the greatest ever brought together to tell you and show you a romance with love and mystery, excitement and heart-throbs.

There is Arnold Daly—America's premier actor, in his first appearance in Pathe pictures. There is Sheldon Lewis, conceded the best of character actors of the younger set. There is Pearl White, dainty, pretty, fascinating, romantic, talented Pearl White, fresh from her successes in the "Perils of Pauline."

no fiction character can compare with him. Craig Kennedy, made famous by the Cosmopolitan Magazine, dominates the "Exploits of Elaine."

Then there is Charles W. Goddard, renowned playwright, whose "Misleading Lady," "The Ghost Breaker," "The Man from the Sea" swept the cities and the public of the

WALSH, IN INAUGURAL, DENIES BELIEF IN STATE'S UNEMPLOYED

Governor Also Urges Free Correspondence Schools and Many Other Progressive Measures.

Governor Walsh's second inaugural address made up a book of fifty-eight printed pages. Its reading occupied the better part of two hours. The following represents an effort on the part of the AMERICAN to epitomize this most important document for the benefit of busy readers.

Read this synopsis of the Governor's address, but remember that it is only a synopsis. Ask your Representative or Senator to get a copy of the address itself for you. Take it home. Read it. Know what your Governor is trying to do for all the people of the Commonwealth.

Ask for YOUR copy of "Senate Document No. 1." In the meantime:

IMMEDIATE CARE OF THE UNEMPLOYED.
 Address at home, within a week if possible, for appropriations of $100,000 for a thousand tent houses, for the relocation of swamp lands, the building of boardwalks and good roads in the hill towns of the west. Full details of these important recommendations are found in another column.

WHAT THE TAX DOLLAR.
 The Governor reviews his recommendation that full returns of taxable property be made compulsory, declares his belief that "with every dollar of property that has been conveyed real estate there shall be full consideration for the conveyance," and says that "upon discovery of any property that has been conveyed a tax shall be assessed upon it, not only for the current year, but on each of the five years preceding it, if the property is not sold within that time."

PUBLIC INQUIRY AS TO TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH RATES AND SERVICE IN MASSACHUSETTS.
 His Excellency again urges the transfer of the supervision and regulation of telephone and telegraph from the Public Service Board to the Gas and Electric Light Commission. This again recommends the public inquiry.

No such formal governmental inquiry, Governor Walsh says, represents

THE SILENT MILLIONS WHO NEVER CAME TO THE STATE HOUSE.

In conclusion, I urge you not to forget the general welfare of the people of our State—those millions who never appear before a legislative committee, not because they are without interest or unconcerned about public questions, but because they are busily engaged in the struggle for a livelihood.

Let us not forget that they have temporarily delegated the responsibility of their welfare to the representatives of their district in the State House.

Last year, he continued, a most interesting experiment was made under the so-called Public Opinion bill.

In five districts, whose representatives had voted against the Constitutional amendment providing for the initiative and referendum, there were submitted to the voters the question whether or not they wanted the initiative and referendum.

The voters in every district by an overwhelming majority in favor of the initiative and referendum. The vote in the five districts was almost three to one, 1,100 voting "yes" and 400 voting "no."

The result of this evidence of the popular will, the very fact that the initiative and referendum were voted upon, is a proof of an popular will to have a say in the government.

Therefore, I earnestly recommend the passage of the initiative and referendum bill, which will permit us to have a say in the government.

There was a shortage in floral designs when Representative William Donahue, of the First District, was elected to the State House.

He was elected to the State House, and he was elected to the State House, and he was elected to the State House.

GOVERNOR WALSH IS INAUGURATED

"pass an emergency appropriation of not less than $200,000," providing the Bureau of Health and Sanitation with the means of taking over not less than a thousand acres of fresh-water swamps and marshes in eastern Massachusetts for reclamation.

With this money the Governor would establish a bureau of reclamation, and would employ a large number of men and women in the work of clearing and preparing the land.

ERGES WISCONSIN PLAN.
 I urge that Wisconsin's admirable system of university extension be copied, or improved upon, if possible, in every detail, and that a special department be established, with adequate powers and facilities, for this necessary work.

Security I hope to be able to submit a detailed plan for your consideration.

The most wonderful performance of the standstillers and reactionaries in last year's Legislature was that by which they prevented the passage of the initiative and referendum by the vote of the majority.

The Governor, not being daunted, renewed his efforts to pass the initiative and referendum bill.

He was elected to the State House, and he was elected to the State House, and he was elected to the State House.

under the so-called Public Opinion bill.

In five districts, whose representatives had voted AGAINST the Constitutional amendment providing for the initiative and referendum, there was submitted to the voters the question whether or not they wanted the initiative and referendum.

The voters replied in every district by an overwhelming majority in favor of the reform. The total vote for the initiative and referendum was almost three to one, 1,100 voting "yes" and 400 voting "no."

In the light of this evidence of the popular will, the very fact that the initiative and referendum were voted upon, is a proof of an popular will to have a say in the government.

Therefore, I earnestly recommend the passage of the initiative and referendum bill, which will permit us to have a say in the government.
